ST. PAUL, MINN. (May 13, 2010) — Reeher LLC founder and president Andrew Reeher has been named a 2010 Minnesotan on the Move by Finance and Commerce. Reeher was honored during an awards event on April 29, and featured in Finance and Commerce about his success in creating the Reeher Platform, a Web-based service that uses next-generation data and analytics to help universities predict their best donors and uncover hidden prospects within their own databases. Reeher is one of 38 entrepreneurs and business leaders to receive the award and was selected from more than 100 nominees. According to Finance and Commerce, the Minnesotans on the Move awards were created to “cast an eye on the future of Minnesota’s business landscape by choosing a group of business people who has what it takes to gain great prominence in their field.”

“I’m honored to be included in such a prestigious group of Minnesota’s up-and-coming business leaders,” says Reeher. “Thanks to our dedicated team, loyal and growing base of university customers, and cutting-edge approach to bringing science to the art of fundraising, we look forward to continued growth not only of our company but also of the institutions we serve and university development as a whole.”
